

The 2009 Other Voices Lecture Series presents

March
16

Native American Studies
Professor

Beth Piatote

Monday, March 16, 2009
12-1 pm
Heller Multicultural Lounge
205 Martin Luther King Jr. Student Union

Beth Piatote is a scholar and writer. Currently an assistant professor of Native American studies, her Research interests include Native American literature, law, and culture; Native American and American cultural studies; indigenous feminisms; and Niimiipuu (Nez Perce) language and literature. She has published literary criticism in the journals Paradoxa and Kenyon Review and short stories in the anthology, Reckonings: Contemporary Short Fiction by Native American Women.